Gayle - ?Abcdefu (Feat. Royal & The Serpent)

```
F
                                                                Fuck you and your friends
                            tom:
                Е
                                                                         Ab
                                                                That I'll never see again
                                                                      Dbm
            [Refrão]
                                                                Everybody but your dog
F
                                                                         Α
                                                                You can all fuck off
Fuck you and your mom
        Ab
And your sister, and your job
                                                                                Ab
                                                                Nah, nah, nah, nah
        Dbm
And your broke-ass car
                                                                                Dbm
                                                                Nah, nah, nah, nah
And that shit you call art
                                                                A-B-C-D-E, F-U
      Е
Fuck you and your friends
                                                                [Segunda Parte]
             Ab
That I'll never see again
                                                                F
     Dbm
                                                                Now with my energy
Dbm
Everybody but your dog
                                                                Ab
                                                                You and me, we're not the same
          Α
You can all fuck off
                                                                Dbm
                                                                Oh, you think that i'm the bitch
[Refrão]
                                                                Well, look in the mirror, babe
F
I swear I meant to mean
                                                                FYI, you're not my type
      Ab
The best when it ended
Dbm
                                                                PSA, you're friends are lame
Even tried to bite my tongue
                                                                Dbm
                                                                You're bad in bed, you suck at sex
                    F
When you start shit
                                                                RIP, t me you're dad
Now you're textin'
            Ab
                                                                [Refrão]
All my friends, asking questions
                                                                Δh
Dbm
                                                                                           Dbm
They never even liked you
                                                                I was into you, but I'm over it now
                                                                         Α
    Α
                                                                And I was tryin' to be nice
In the first place
                                                                But nothing's getting through
Dated a girl that I hate
                                                                                   Dbm
                                                                So let me spell it out
For the attention
Dbm
She only made it two days
                                                                    Α
                                                                A-B-C-D-E-F-U
What a connection
                                                                And your mom
                                                                           Ab
It's like you'd do anything
                                                                And your sister, and your job
Ab
For my affection~
                                                                             Dbm
                                                                And your craigslist couch
Dbm
You're goin' all about it
                                                                And the way your voice sounds
Α
In the worst ways
                                                                      F
[Refrão]
                                                                Fuck you and your friends
                                                                          Ab
                                                                That I'll never see again
                       Ab
                                     Dbm
I was into you, but I'm over it now
                                                                      Dbm
                                                                Everybody but your dog
And I was tryin' to be nice
                                                                         Α
                                                                You can all fuck off
                            Ab
But nothing's getting through
                     Dbm
                                                                                 Δh
So let me spell it out
                                                                Nah, nah, nah, nah
                                                                                Dbm
                                                                Nah, nah, nah, nah
A-B-C-D-E-F-U
                                                                A-B-C-D-E, F-U
And your mom
           Ab
                                                                                 Ab
And your sister, and your job
                                                                Nah, nah, nah, nah
            Dbm
                                                                                Dhm
And your broke-ass car
                                                                Nah, nah, nah, nah
                                                                A-B-C-D-E, F-U
And that shit you call art
```

Oferecimento Lojalele.com.br

And your mom Ab And your sister, and your job Dbm And your broke-ass car A And that shit you call art

Acordes

E Fuck you and your friends Ab That I'll never see again Dbm Everybody but your dog A You can all fuck off