

Giulia Be - Too Bad

```
Bet she can?t kiss like me, though
                            tom:
                                                                              Bm
Intro: D Bm Gbm E
                                                               Yeah, she can?t love like me, no
                                                               What I got she can never be, no
Might be lying next to her, lying to yourself
                                                                          Е
                                                               Ain?t that too bad?
             Gbm
Deep down you know you wanna be with somebody else
But you missed your chance, baby, never gave a shot
                                                               Bad, baby
           Gbm
Don?t really hope you?re happy 'cause you made me hurt a lot
                                                               Bad, baby
                                                               Close your eyes and
I bet she can?t kiss like me, tho
                                                               Gbm
                                                               You see me
              Bm
Bet she can?t love like me, no
                                                               You see me
What I got she can never be, no
                                                               Ain?t that all too
Ain?t that too bad?
                                                               Bad, baby?
Bet she can?t kiss like me, though
                                                               Bad, baby
              Bm
                                                               Bm
Bet she can?t love like me, no
                                                               Too bad, baby
                   Gbm
                                                               Gbm
What I got she can never be, no
                                                               Too bad, baby
Ain?t that too bad?
                                                               D Bm Gbm
                                                                   Too bad, baby
                                                              D Bm Gbm
Bad, baby
                                                                    Too bad, baby
Bad, baby
                                                               Bet she can?t kiss
Close your eyes and
                                                              Bet she can?t love
You see me
                                                               Bet she can?t kiss like me, no
You see me
                                                               Bet she can?t love like me, though
Ain?t that all too
Bad, baby?
                                                              Bet she can?t kiss
                                                                            Rm
Bad, baby
                                                               Bet she can?t love
                                                                            Gbm
Too bad, baby
                                                               Bet she can?t kiss like me, no
Gbm
Too bad, baby
                                                               Bet she can?t love like me, though
D Bm Gbm
    Too bad, baby
                                                               Bad, baby
D Bm Gbm
     Too bad, baby
                                                               Bad, baby
                                                               Close your eyes and
But I don?t blame her, I blame the situation
                                                               Gbm
 Gbm
                                                               You see me
I guess she?s under your spell, game of manipulation
                                                               You see me
I know you, the real you, hiding under all these faces
                                                               Ain?t that all too
You can pretend all you want, but I know that she?s just a
                                                               Bad, baby?
                                                               Bad, baby
'Cause you know she can?t kiss like me, tho
                                                               Too bad, baby
               Bm
Yeah, she can?t love like me, no
                                                               Gbm
                                                               Too bad, baby
What I got she can never be, no
                                                              D Bm Gbm
           Е
Ain?t that too bad?
                                                                   Too bad, baby
                                                               D Bm Gbm
                                                                    Too bad, baby
```

Acordes

