What a mental fire alarm
                                                              We could meet down the line
         Gm
'Cause a lot of that felt wrong
                                                              After all of the time, and
                                                                              Gm7
Like I miss you
                                                              Give an actual try

                                                               I can't promise you'll like it
But when I kissed you back, I lied

You don't know how hard I tried
                                                               I know I changed overnight

Had to fake the longest time
                                                              So I can't blame you for fighting

                                                              And I'd be losing my mind
Where do we go now?
                                                               If you lived in your writing
Where do we go now?
                                                                      Fb7M

                                                               'Cause now I'm half of myself here without you
                                                               You're the best in my life and I lost you

Where do we go now?
                                                              And we had no control when it fell through
Where do we go now?
                                                               It was one-sided, hate how I hurt you
Where do we go now?
                                                              If I could, I'd have changed every feeling
Where do we go now?
                                                              Reservations are up to the ceiling
                                                               'Cause the space was the thing that I needed
You look hopeful
                                                              But I miss you
