You're the heat I need when it gets colder

Got a few more scars as I got older

But you always know what to do (yeah)

And nobody knows how to diagnose me

But you come around on my short notice

Oh, you always know what to do (ayo)

When I feel like I'm someone else

My body just keeps on breakin' down

Oh, you always know what to do (always know what to do)

(One, two, three)

She's my medicine, I don't need a doctor

And I tried everything, needed somethin' stronger

In your eyes, life begins, I can't wait no longer

I don't know where to go, but I know that you'll keep me from goin' under

Alright, hilltop, baby, I'ma shout it from the hill

Wristwatch, countin' down the time that we here

Liftoff, we can take a flight anywhere

Lately makin' all my problems disappear

You know me better than I know myself (myself)

And I don't like to ask for help (oh no)

But I know you can always tell (can tell, ayo)

When I feel like I'm someone else

My body just keeps on breakin' down

Oh, you always know what to do (always know what to do)

(One, two, three)

She's my medicine, I don't need a doctor

And I tried everything, needed somethin' stronger

In your eyes, life begins, I can't wait no longer

I don't know where to go, but I know that you'll keep me from goin' under

Medicine (medicine)

I don't know where to go, but I know that you'll keep me from goin' under
