

Gustavo Bertoni - Picasso Blue

tom:

C

Got out of bed and just went out running
What i'd do for my mind to stop drumming
What a waste, what a waste wouldn't that be?
Let this love wash out, just admit it

Chasing signs like a submarine
The sea's dried out and it's crystal clean

Why you gotta keep me waiting?
The sun is out and i'm still up
You know it's you that i've been craving

Enough to write an obvious song
Maybe it's a way to swallow down
The pride of showing that i'm still around

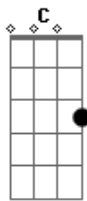

I said before that i'd be waiting

A different end for the same old story
But you've changed me, i can't ignore it
Even though yeah i know this is fucked up
I see you in all my new lovers

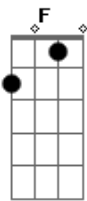

Painting life in picasso blue
The eyes i fixed are obsessed with you

Why you gotta keep me waiting?
The sun is out and i'm still up
You know it's you that i've been craving
Enough to write an obvious song
Maybe it's a way to swallow down
The pride of showing that i'm still around
I said before that i'd be waiting
