

Halsey - 100 Letters

```
Tom: G
                                                                But I don't let him touch me anymore
Intro: Em
                                                                I said "I'm not something to butter up and taste when you get
Well King Midas put his hands on me again?
                                                                'Cause I have spent too many nights on dirty bathroom floors
He said "one day I'd realize why I don't have any friends"
                                                                To find some peace and quiet right behind a wooden door"
I find myself alone at night, unless I'm havin' sex
But he can make me golden if I just showed some respect
                                                                He said "please don't go away"
                                                                He said "please don't go away"
But I don't let him touch me anymore
                                                              G I said "it's too late"
I said "I'm not something to butter up and taste when you get
                                                                I said "it's too late"
'Cause I have spent too many nights on dirty bathroom floors
                                                                He said "please don't go away"
To find some peace and quiet right behind a wooden door"
                                                                He said "please don't go away"
                                                                I said "it's too late"
He said "please don't go away"
                                                                I said "it's too late"
He said "please don't go away"
                                                                And now I can't stop thinking that I can't stop thinking
I said "it's too late"
I said "it's too late"
                                                                That I almost gave you everything
                                                                           Cm
He said "please don't go away"
                                                                And now the whole thing's finished and I can't stop wishing
He said "please don't go away"
                                                                That I never gave you anything
I said "it's too late"
                                                                And now I can't stop thinking that I can't stop thinking
I said "it's too late"
                                                                That I almost gave you everything (I said it's too late)
                                                                And now the whole thing's finished and I can't stop wishing
And now I can't stop thinking that I can't stop thinking
                                                                      Em
                                                                                     Em7
                                                                That I never gave you anything
That I almost gave you everything
And now the whole thing's finished and I can't stop wishing
                                                                He said "please don't go away"
      Em
                     Em7
That I never gave you anything
                                                                He said "please don't go away"
                                                                I said "it's too late"
You wrote 100 letters just for me
                                                                I said "it's too late"
And I find them in my closet in the pockets of my jeans
                                                                He said "please don't go away"
Now I'm constantly reminded of the time I was 19
                                                                He said "please don't go away"
Every single one's forgotten in a laundromat machine
                                                                Em
                                                                I said "it's too late"
    Cm
                                                                I said "it's too late"
```

Acordes

