

Albert Hammond - When I'm Gone

```
Tom: B
                                                              But your love keeps pulling in my heart
m [Intro] D D7 D D7 G G
                                                                      Α7
   D D7 D D7 D D7 G G
                                                              Pulling strong
When I'm gone
                                                              Will you miss me
                                                                   Bm Bm
                                                              In the night
Will you take good care of everything
                                                              Em A G
Will your arms reach out to hold me tight
Gb Bm Bm
Will you keep wearing your wedding ring
        A7
When I'm gone
                                                              And keep me in your dreams
                                                                     G
                                                              In your heart
And When I'm gone
                                                              In your life
Will you take out all the photographs
Maybe spend a moment in the past
                                                              Sometimes I wanna run to you
       A7
                                                                Bm
When I'm gone
                                                              Like lovers do
                                                                   Em
        Gb
                                                              When love is new
Will you miss me
                                                              Just for a moment, be close to you
      Bm Bm
In the night
                                                              Pretending I'm still holding you
       Em
Will your arms reach out to hold me tight

Gb Bm Bm
                                                              And even when I'm far away
                                                                 Bm
And keep me in your dreams
                                                              The dreams will stay
       G
In your heart
                                                                  Em
                                                              And someday
In your life
                                                              After we both chase our fantasies
                                                              Love will bring you back to me
Sometimes I wanna run to you
  Bm
                                                              ( D D7 D D7 D D7 G G )
Like lovers do
  Em
When love is new
                                                                               D
                                                              Sometimes I wanna run to you
Just for a moment, be close to you
                                                              Like lovers do
Pretending I'm still holding you
                                                                   Em
                                                             When love is new
                 D
And even when I'm far away
                                                              Just for a moment, be close to you
The dreams will stay
                                                              Pretending I'm still holding you
  Em
And someday
                                                                               D
Gb G
After we both chase our fantasies
                                                              And even when I'm far away
                                                              The dreams will stay
Love will bring you back to me
                                                                 Em
                                                              And someday
( D D7 D D7 D D7 G G )
                                                              After we both chase our fantasies
                                                              Love will bring you back to me
When I'm gone
I'll be thinking bout you constantly
                                                              Sometimes I wanna run to you
Cause you're locked inside my memories
                                                               Bm
                                                              Like lovers do
From now on
                                                                   Em
                                                              When love is new
And I know
                                                              Just for a moment, be close to you
That we said we needed time apart
                                                             Pretending I'm still holding you
```

Acordes

