

Hayley Williams - Love Me Different

No one's gonna love me like you did tom:
                                                                                                                         And I know that you're probably right about that

Now I wonder
                                                                                                                          And I want someone to love me different
What am I worth to you?
                                                                                                                          [Ponte]

And I know that you're probably telling yourself that
                                                                                                                          Two prescriptions, no good routines
                                                                                                                          Guess I'm the one who's gotta love me differently
No one's gonna love me like you did
And I know that you're probably right about that Endless scrolling, up 'til three Gm
But someone's gonna love me different
