                A
Intro:

        E
In the night I'm calling you
        A             E
Be my guide, help me through
        E
In the night I call your name
           A                E
You're the light in times of shame
      D                  A     B         E
The songs I sing, all my love I bring for you

   E7                                  B7
I always try to make things better, everything that has gone wrong
A7                                        B7
Mighty plans in the right direction, but very little has been done
E7                                     B7
Everyday when I try to get forward, I find myself another mile back
A7                                       B7
Help me fighting, help me breathing, why am I falling down instead?

D                            A                  E
Every useful minute seems to be the thought of you
       D                                    A
E
Every hour seems like wasted, filled with things that I might do
        D
B
Without love in my reactions seems the saddest thing, but it's true

        E
In the night I'm calling you
        A             E
Be my guide, help me through
        E
In the night I call your name
           A                E
You're the light in times of shame
      D                  A     B         E
The songs I sing, all my love I bring for you

B7
Free from ourselves and free form this world we may find
     A7                                          B7
The freedom we search, 'cause all that we need is inside
     B7
The hours we waste, we may not get back for a while
      A7                                          G     Gb
B7
And when it gets dark, no chance will be there for a try

E7                                    B7
When I wake up early in the morning, I catch a book and jump
inside
A7                                       B7
I fill my head with a million wonders, and try to fill the night with light
E7                                    B7
The moment when I get things clearer, I see another mountain to climb
A7                                    B7
And always when I think I'm nearer, I realize there is no time

        E
In the night I'm calling you
        A             E
Be my guide, help me through
        E
In the night I call your name
           A                E
You're the light in times of shame
     D                  A     B      E
Sometimes I cried after all I lied to you
