Hollie Col - Let Yourself Down

```
He's a different boy
                            tom:
                                                                           C
                                                                You don't know what he did
                Dm
Intro: Dm C Bb
                                                                He loves like a toy
                   С
                                                                           Bb
Easy to let your...self down, but you don't know
                                                                You don't cave girl
Bb
Easy to let yourself down, but you don't know
                                                                You're not a fool
                                                                It's easier to let yourself down
Get to the truth and the things you hope for
                                                                Dm
                                                                                    C
                                                                Easy to let your...self down, but you don't know
                Bb
Don't play around
                                                                Don't let him play around
       Dm
And I hope that when you find it you never look back
                                                                Bb
                                                                Easy to let yourself down, but you don't know
        С
But I know
                  Bb
                                                                It's easier to let yourself down
Things change so often
                                                                Easy to let your...self down, but you don't know
It's easier to let yourself down
                                                                                  Bb
                                                                Easier to hold on to the things that tie you to the ground
Dm
Easy to let your...self down, but you don't know
                                                                Dm
Don't let him play around
                                                                Let him go
                                                                               С
Rh
                                                                Let him go, no-no, no, no
Easy to let yourself down, but you don't know
                                                                        Bb
                                                                Let him go
It's easier to let yourself down
Dm
                  - C
Easy to let your...self down, but you don't know
                                                                Let him go, no-no, no, no
                  Bb
Easier to hold on to the things that tie you to the ground
                                                                Let him go
                                                                Let him go
        Dm C
Let him go
                                                                     C
                                                                Let-let him go
        Bb
Let him go
                                                                                   Bb
                                                                Let-let him go, no-no-no
    Dm
And now he's crying wolf
                                                                You're not a fool
Saying he wants you back
                                                                                       Dm
                                                                                                 C
                                                                It's easier to let yourself down
      С
Don't cave, girl
                                                                                      Bb
                                                                Don't let him play around
            Bb
You're not a fool
                                                                Easy to let yourself down, but you don't know
                                                                                       Dm
                                                                It's easier to let yourself down
It's not meant for you, oh
                                                                                 Bb
                                                                Easier to hold on to the things that tie you to the ground
      Dm
He's saying that he's changed
                                                                         Dm
                                                                Let him go
```

Acordes

