

Hot Chocolate - It Started With A Kiss

But I was happy 'cos you cried still tom:
                                                        I couldn't help but notice
                                                                                      Em C G
                                                        That new distant look in your eyes and then
It Started with a kiss .. in the back row of the classroom
How could I resist the aroma of your perfume
                                                        When you were sixteen
                                                                                С
                                   Bm
                                                  Fm
                                                        And I had just turned seventeen (just turned seventeen)
You and I were inseparable it was love at first sight
                                                        I couldn't hold on to your love
You made me promise to marry you
                                                        I couldn't hold on to my dream
I made you promise to be my wife
                                                        [Refrão]
But then .. you were only eight years old
                                                                                  Em D Em
                                                        You don't remember me do you
I had just about turned nine (just about turned nine)
                                                                               D D D
                                                        You don't remember me do you
I thought that life was always good
                                                         (Am C D D)
I thought you always would be mine
                                                                            G
                                                        Walking down the streets again {\tt C} - {\tt Am} - {\tt D}
[Refrão]
                                                        Came the star of my love story
It started with a kiss
                                                        And my heart began to beat so fast
Never thought it would come to this
                                                                           C Am D D
                                                        And so clear was my memory
It started with a kiss
Never thought it would come to this
                                                        I heard my voice cry out your name
                                                                     Bm
                                                        And as you looked and looked away
                                                                             D
I remember every little thing
                                                        I felt so hurt I felt so small it was all
Like fighting in the playground
                                                        That I could say
As some good-looking boy had started to hang around
                                                        (GDAmCG)
That boy hurt me so bad
