

Iced Earth - Watching Over Me

```
But why? Why did he have to die?
                        tom:
              Ab (forma dos acordes no tom de A )
                                                        Em
It still hurts me to this day

D G
                                                                    Cadd9
                        Afinação: Eb Ab Db Gb Bb Eb
Intro: Em Cadd9 G D G
      Em Cadd9 G D G
                                                        Am I selfish for feeling this way?
                                                                    Cadd9
                                                        I know he's an angel now
           Cadd9
I had a friend many years ago
                                                                            D G
                   D G
                                                        Together we'll be someday
One tragic night he died
          Cadd9
                                                            Cadd9
The saddest time of my life
                                                         I feel it once again
                                                        Gb G Gb Em
For weeks and weeks I cried
                                                        It's overwhelming me
                                                        Cadd9
        Cadd9
Through the anger and through the tears
                                                        His spirit's like the wind
                                                        Gb G Gb Em
I've felt his spirit through the years
                                                        The angel guarding me
                                                           Cadd9
           Cadd9
I'd swear, He's watching me
                                                        Oh, I know, oh, I know
                                                        Gb G Gb
Guiding me through hard times
                                                        He's watching over me
                                                           Cadd9
   Cadd9
                                                        Oh, I know, oh, I know
 I feel it once again
                                                        Gb G Gb
Gb G Gb Em
                                                        He's watching over me
It's overwhelming me
Cadd9
                                                        [Solo] Em Cadd9 G D G
His spirit's like the wind
                                                              Em Cadd9 G D G
                                                              Em Cadd9 G D G
Gb G Gb Em
The angel guarding me
                                                              Em Cadd9 G D G
 Cadd9
Oh, I know, oh, I know
                                                           Cadd9
Gb G Gb Em
                                                         I feel it once again
He's watching over me
                                                        Gb G Gb Em
   Cadd9
                                                        It's overwhelming me
Oh, I know, oh, I know
                                                        Cadd9
                                                        His spirit's like the wind
Gb G Gb
He's watching over me
                                                        Gb G Gb Em
                                                        The angel guarding me
                                                           Cadd9
(Em Cadd9 G D G)
                                                        Oh, I know, oh, I know
                   Cadd9
                                                        Gb G Gb Em
We shared dreams like all best friends
                                                        He's watching over me
                  D G
                                                         Cadd9
Blood brothers at the age of ten
                                                        Oh, I know, oh, I know
                Cadd9
                                                        Gb G Gb
We lived reckless, he paid the price
                                                        He's watching over me
```

Acordes

