

Incubus - Glass

```
Tom: E
                                                                     "...should i appologise..."
   (intro) (and verses)
(octaver and phaser i think)
                                                                     (now play intro (second verse) followed by the bridge and then (bridge)
                                                                     the chorus)
(distortion)
(this is all harmonics- i cant find the right harmonic, but i
                                                                     (mini-bridge between second verse and bridge)
Know it sounds like the same note as when u play the ninth fret on (interlude)
The top-e string)
(try either)
                                                                     It starts with more weird noises which mike plays. its hard to sav
A )
                                                                     what notes to play but i think its the open top E string and B string.
                                                                     Use phaser, delay and reverb (i havent a clue what mike uses
"..youre never gonna be.."
                                                                     but this Is what i use). or B ) Play harmonics on the THIRD fret of the low-E string.

Near the end of the bridge just before the chorus, move up the (here are the heavy bits)
Neck while playing harmonics.
                                                                     (distortion)
(chorus)
```

"...if i could have a dime..."

(ending)

(now play the chorus straight after)

Acordes

(#= palm-mute this chord)

(distortion)

