Iron & Wine - Trapeze Swinger

Tom: C just a major scale. i didnt take much time to listen to which fret it was, so just The song is 9 minutes, and i dont really feel like play it on the fret that listening to the whole thing right sounds right, i think it sounds good if you start off on the low e - 6th fret. play it now... this is what he does through out most the song if not the whole song. up, and then reverse it and play it down to make it sound like the piano, then just drop it to a lower fret to and play it again to sound like the song. the piano part at the end can be played on the guitar... it is part of the major scale:
