

iyla - Grey

```
All you see is red like this lace
                tom:
                                                                  We?re so black and white, there?s no grey
Intro: D7M D7 G Gm
                                                                  No grey
[Primeira Parte]
                                                                  [Segunda Parte]
         D7M
                                                                              D7M
You know I can imagine why
                                                                  I don?t get mad now when we fight
                                                                  It?s a cycle in our lives
You live in your disguise
     D7
                                                                  Red roses won?t suffice
I hate it when you hide
I can read it in your lies
                                                                  I hate that your my vice
You knew it, you blew it
                                                                  We blew it, so screw it
        Gm
                                                                  Thought we could get it right
Do it every time
                                                                  Our white sheets stay frozen
The green grass stopped growing
              D7
Over on this side
                                                                  I?m sleeping on your side
But nobody can water it like you
                                                                  ?Cause nobody can warm this bed up like you (Like you do)
           D7M
They say, ?love comes, love goes?
                                                                  [Pré-Refrão]
            D7
                                                                        D7M
But when this thing ends
                                                                  You changed on me
We?ll need a doctor
                                                                  How you got like that?
It?s gon? be a problem
                                                                  I know what it is
[Pré-Refrão]
                                                                  I fall right back
     D7M
                                                                  My heart is a piece of the puzzle
You changed on me
How you got like that?
                                                                  Break it up, put it back
   D7
I know what it is
                                                                  Then you fumble
I fall right back
                                                                  [Refrão]
My heart is a piece of the puzzle
                                                                  Do you ever m?an what you say?
Break it up, put it back
                                                                  Do you really mean it that way?
Then you fumble
                                                                  We?r? so black and white, there?s no grey
[Refrão]
                                                                  No grey
                                                                  D7M
D7M
                            D7
                                                                  It?s a lot of flags in my face
Do you ever m?an what you say?
                                                                  All you see is red like this lace
Do you really mean it that way?
                                                                  We?re so black and white, there?s no grey
We?r? so black and white, there?s no grey
No grey
                                                                  No grey
D7M
It?s a lot of flags in my face
                                                                  [Final] D7M D7 G Gm
Acordes
    D7M
                                  D7
            ukulele-chords.com
                          ukulele-chords.com
                                        ukulele-chords.com
```