Intro: G Gbm Bm Em Em A7

G
Who's thinking about you now?

Em Em A7
If you were building a wall, who would tear it all down and pull you through?

G
Who's thinking about you?

Bm
Who'd care enough to send you flowers, that you could call at all hours,

Em Em A7
And give your love to?
A7 G
Somebody must believe if they could see what I see

Bm
If they haven't, well they will
Em Em A7 A7
Baby they all will

G
Just when you suspect that life couldn't get no harder, something comes
Along and makes your dark day darker

Gbm Bm Em Em A7
The weight of it all falls on you

G
Who will be the one to listen when it's time to listen?

G
Who will be the one to miss you when you've gone missing?

Gbm Bm
Well, I do.

Em A7
Do I qualify, qualify, qualify, qualify, qualify?

G
I want to be the one to help you ignore Mr. Loneliness pleading his head
Into your door.

Gbm
I'm hoping you can feel me.

Abm Bm A7
I'm hoping you can feel me in your chest, yeah
G

I'm hoping that you notice how you're blessed, yeah

G
I feel like starting something.

Gbm Bm Em Em A7
I feel like calling off today to be with you.

G Bm
Yeah, I believe we all do something that's familiar like a

deja vu,

Gbm Bm
Familiar like a deja vu

G
Yeah, and I know you're smoking, I've seen your fire

Gbm Bm
I know in love you've been giving it up

Em A7
So do I qualify, qualify, qualify, qualify, qualify?

G
I want to be the one to help you move from Mr. Loneliness living in the Kitchen of your home.

Gbm
I'm hoping you can feel me.

Abm G A7
I'm hoping that I don't run out of breath, breath, yeah.

Ooh... Ooh...
[Assobios]

Abm Dbm
When our two hands are linked together with an ampersand

E A
It's my kind of diagram.

Abm Dbm
When our sore eyes are lined up side by side

E A
Well, I'm a happy man

E A
Yes, I'm a happy man.

Abm Dbm
Yes ma'am, yes ma'am, yes ma'am

E A
I am thinking about you.

Abm Dbm
Yes ma'am, yes ma'am, yes ma'am

E A E
I am thinking about you.
