 Backing Track. I can't tell if it's keyboard or guitar with reverb and/or delay, but here it is...
 Guitar starts (John either uses wah or phaser for this. But I'm going to just use wah)
                                      (4:03)
  (3:41)
(4:12)
 From here, everything starts to get mashed together a bit.
But, this is what I got out of it (don't expect it to be right, I'm still not sure if that's right myself)
 (4:17)
                              (4:20)
                                                (4:22)
 Turn on the distortion
                                           (4:48)
(4:52)
 This riff is played in the background
                                          (4:59)
  (4:54)
  (5:04)
                                       (5:09)
```

Starts working some damn nifty effects (I can't tell what they are) $% \left(1\right) =\left(1\right) \left(1\right)$

I couldn't work out this part, so, kudos to normalowbird for working the chords to this part

This starts to overlap the chords above Still using Wah and Distortion (5:39)
