

John Legend - Preach

```
But I'm only human
Intro: Bm Gbm7 Em7 G
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 I can't see the use in me crying
 [Primeira Parte]
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             Fm7
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  If I'm not even tryna make the change I wanna see
Everyday I wake and everything is broken
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  [Refrão]
Turning off my phone just to get out of bed
                                                                                           Bm
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I can't sit and hope
Get home every evening and history's repeating
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I can't just sit and pray that
Turning off my phone 'cause it's hurting my chest
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I can find a love when all I see is pain
Hey-hey
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I'm falling to my knees
 [Pré-Refrão]
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  And though I do believe
          And heaven knows I'm not helpless, yeah
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I can't just preach, baby, preach
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        Bm
                   But what can I do?
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 Wo-oah-oah-oah, oh-oh-oh
                                                I can't see the use in me crying
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I can't just preach, baby, preach
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  [Pré-Refrão]
If I'm not even tryna make the change I wanna see
 [Refrão]
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            And heaven knows I'm not helpless
I can't sit and hope
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      But what can I do? Yeah
                                                                                                                                        Gbm7
I can't just sit and pray that % \left( 1\right) =\left( 1\right) \left( 1\right) \left
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         I can't see the use of me crying
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          Em7
I can find a love when all I see is pain
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  If I'm not even tryna make the change I wanna see
I'm falling to my knees
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  [Refrão]
And though I do believe
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I can't sit and hope
I can't just preach, baby, preach
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I can't just sit and pray that
                                                                                       Rm
Wo-oah-oah-oah, oh-oh-oh
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I can find a love when all I see is pain
I can't just preach, baby, preach
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        Bm
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I try to do the things that save it, I believe (I do believe)
 [Segunda Parte]
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  G
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I can't just preach, baby, preach
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 Wo-oah-oah-oah, oh-oh-oh
All I hear is voices, everybody's talkin'
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          G
Nothing real is happenin' 'cause nothing is new
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I can't just preach, baby, preach
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         Bm
Now in all this tragic, and I just feel sedated % \left( 1\right) =\left( 1\right) \left( 1\right
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 Wo-oah-oah-oah, oh-oh-oh
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       G
Why do I feel numb? Is that all I can do? Yeah
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I can't just preach, baby, preach
 [Pré-Refrão]
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I'm falling to my knees
        And heaven knows I'm not helpless, yeah (uh)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 And though I do believe
```

Acordes

I can't just preach, baby, preach