Many many years ago when this land was young, move when the axe is in my hand make way for the timber B7 man.
    a lot of our country was covered by big, tall, beautiful trees.
                                                                Yeah, he was a mighty big tough man usually, that timber man that lived in that forest and cut down those
    And men had to have the trees to make wood to build big trees.
houses,
                                                                                      Ε

                                                                    Well, they say there's sawdust in my brain, Α
    make furniture with, to make boats, even to make paper B7
with.
                                                                     and don't get caught out in the rain.
    So as more and more people came, more wood was needed,
                                                                    I got stump water in my blood, so more and more trees were cut down.
                                                                    the sweat from my brow turns the ground to mud.
    And the man that lived in the forest and cut down the В7
                                                          E
                                                                    When the men don't know how to fell a tree, was called the timber man.
                                                                    the one they'll come and ask is me.
    Well, my world is green and dark and dumb,
                                                                    I'll mark my spot and I'll take my stand,
    my home is in the loggin' camp,
                                                                    the tree?s gonna fall for the timber Man
    All week I cut down the mighty trees,
    Saturday I get to do as I please.
                                                                    Swing it hard
                                                                                          cut it clean, no halfway or in-between,
    I give the man more than his hire, and he'll never know move when the axe is in my hand, make way for the timber
   if I tire,
                                                                man.
      B7
    show me the toughest tree around, the timber man will
                                                                    And when they're cuttin' on a tree and it's just about bring it down.
                                                                ready to fall,
    Swing it hard,
                          cut it clean, no halfway or in-the man yells out : ?Timber ! Timber !"
