

Julian Casablancas - River Of Breaklights

```
Tom: Ab
                                                               Fighting the dreams you left behind to-do
   (intro) Bbm
                                                               Waving goodbye, your young heart cries for you
We might be in for a late night
                                                               Set back, 0hh
Stuck in a lava flow of brake lights
                                                                Fh
                                                                You're finding it hard
I can hear a rattling bass drum
                                                                To get very far
Driving back to where it came from
Fh
                                                               We were born waiting in life
Set back, Ohh
                                                               Grabbing the future by the eyes
I shop, therefore I am the cause
                                                               Getting the hang of it, Getting the hang of it
Protect me from what I was
                                                               Timing is everything, Timing is everything
Getting the hang of it
                                                               Getting the hang of it, Timing is everything
Getting the hang of it
                                                               Getting the hang of it, Timing is everything
Getting the hang of it
Getting the hang of it
                                                               Timing the hang of it
Getting the hang of it
                                                               Getting is everything
Getting the hang of it
                                                               Getting the time of it
Getting the hang of it
                                                               Everything hanging is
Getting the hang of it
                                                               Hanging the getting of Dbm
Timing is everything
                                                               Timing the everything
Timing is everything
                                                               Like batteries we die
Timing is everything
Timing is everything
                                                               Like rivers we dry
                                                                                         G
Timing is everything
Timing is everything
                                                               We fuel and recharge, that's humans and cars
                                                               My fun, my sun
I'm at your feet
                                                                    G
                                                               Be my homework done
     Eb
Where critters meet
                                                                     Em C
                                                               Where did you go?
           Ab
Who should be asleep and not
        Bb
                                                                You were my ride home
Crossing roads or highways
Cm
          Ab
In the afterlife of supercities,
                                                                Is that what we want?
        Bb
Rapidly devouring it's outskirts
                                                                Is everything shot?
           Ab
                                                                Is that what you ask for?
It's me or an octopus arm
        Bb
                                                                'Cause that's what we got
Redecorating late at night
                                                                Em C Bb Db
Robot game for kids who hate sports
                                                               Nothing stands still
                                                                    C Bb Db
Mothers crying at the airport
                                                               Nothing stands still
```

Acordes

