

Katerina Lomis - Mr. Adams

Mr Adams always tells me the answers
 Mr Adams never looks me in the eyes
 Don't suppose he knows I notice every time
 Why don't you look me in the eyes?

Mr Adams always walks me to the bus stop
 Mr Adams never thinks of reason or rhyme
 Oh, but he just won't go 'til he sees I'm inside
 Why Mr Adams?
 Why Mr Adams?
 Why?

Saturday morning skipping on Clairmont Street
 Pretty pink pavement kisses my dainty feet
 Stop in the driveway of house 120
 The sleepy Chevrolet, oh yes, I've seen it plenty Come a little closer, got secret that you've got to keep Shhh
 I doodle his name in every class
 Just seeing his face it helps the time pass
 I think I might stay a little past half past two
 So he can tell me what to do

Mr Adams always tells me the answers
 Mr Adams never looks me in the eyes
 Don't suppose he knows I notice every time
 Why don't you look me in the eyes?

Mr Adams tells me, "Yes, " but then he says "Stop "
 Takes the pen right out my hand to carry the nine
 Oh, swear his touch alone occupies my whole mind
 Why Mr Adams?
 Why Mr Adams?
 Why?

Hi, Mr Adams, got a question could you answer?
 Hi, Mr Adams, like the auburn in your tie, sir
 Hi, Mr Adams, could I ask you for a coat, brrr
 I'm feeling tired but, boy!
 I got to say goodbye

You look inspired today

Hi, Mr Adams, could you tutor me on Sunday
 Hi, Mr Adams, caught cha sleeping at the school play
 Hi, Mr Adams, are you going to the fundraiser?
 Because I think that you should
 Oh, I really think that you should
 My god, I think that you should

Spray my perfume just before the test
 He asks me how prepared I am, "Sir, I tried my best!"
 And for the first time he smiles and I'm breathless
 Oh, my heart is wild, I'm feeling quite beguiled today!

I'd like to stay forever like this
 If he gets any closer fear I might kiss him
 Whispers, "Good luck" and oh, I feel bliss
 My god, Mr Adams, I can't do this anymore!
