

Katy Perry - Simple

All it goes to show
Intro: B Eb Ab A
                                                                Refrão
                                                                That it could be so simple
                                                                (you were thinking)
You're such a poet
                                                                Abm
                                                                Life should be that simple

I wish I could be Wesley Willis
                                                                (Who would have thought it)
                                                                I wish it were just that simple
My words would flow like honey, sweet and laid on thick
                                                                (don't know what you were thinking)
                                                                                 Gbm
                                                                The point's been missed
You're so edgy
You dont even need a rhyming dictionary
                                                                We've made a mess
   Dbm
I wipe my hands on your jeans, 'cause they are more distressed Who would have guessed
                                                                                                (B E B E)
So they say--you got O.C.D.
                                                                That it's as simple as it seems
    Ebm
And they claim you can barely read
                                                                Same chords as chorus:
                                                                I'm not saying that it's a piece of cake
But you say "Don't bother me with all of your reality"
                                                                Just take a moment to re-evaluate
                                                                The possibilities
(Refrão)
                                                                The situations
                F
                                                                The opportunities
But it could be so simple
                                                                That are waiting
(you were thinking)
                                                                Oh, the possibilities
                                                                0h, I
Life should be that simple
(Who would have thought it)
                                                                It could, it could be that simple
                                                                (you were thinking)
I wish it were just so simple
                                                                Life should be that simple
(don't know what you were thinking)
                                                                (Who would have thought it)

                                                                I wish it were just so simple
                                                                (don't know what you were thinking)
But the point's been missed
                                                                You're in a haze
You've made a mess
                                                                It's just a phase
                                                                You know this maze
Who would have guessed
                                                                Is as simple as it seems
                               (B E Abm Em )
That it's as simple as it seems
                                                                Same chords as the chorus:
                                                                We could talk all day
(B Ebm Dbm E )
                                                                About your eccentricities
So what, you're a genius
                                                                What I mean to say
But you've got a lot to learn
                                                                Oh, is that I need you listen please
Like the time you lost your apartment
                                                                And focus on life's simplicities
Cause you bought too much Vuitton
                                                                So don't be afraid to strip it away
                                                                Cause at the end of the day
You park in a loading zone
You sleep with the lights all on
                                                                It's still as simple as it seems
You cross your i's and dot your t's
                                                                It is all so simple
                                                                Just deal with it
