

Katy Perry - The Better Half Of Me

```
caz the better half of me was you Tom: E
                                                                          Dbm
                                                              im like the hive without its bee without you (intro 2x) E B Dbm Abm
                                                                               Dbm
                                                              i gotta find ya gotta remind ya \label{eq:continuous} \verb"i_took" advantage of you a stepping stone to my pedestal that two is better than one
                                 Dbm
when you had enough of it i said fine good luck replacing this caz i seem strong and independent self sufficient confident ooh it took a little earthquake A E B and i'm like mercury rising to the top so selfishly to appreciate the stability youve given me so consistanly yeaah yeah the better half of me was you (EBDbmEBAA)
     Dbm
i'm like a hive without a bee without you Dbm
i gotta find ya gotta remind ya
                                                              the better half of me was you
                                                                      Dbm
that two is better than one im like a bird without its wings without you so please accept my apology caz im feeling Dbm
              Abm
                                                               i gotta find ya gotta remind ya like a branch without its tree that two is stronger than one it took me a fall to really see the better half of me oh its you that your the catch i wanna keep
                                                                Dbm
                                                              im like a heart without its beat caz i get weak thinking about you without you
living without you life has no value A E
                                                               i gotta find ya gotta remind ya baby come back to me i promise you that i'm gotta try to Abm
caz youre the only missing piece Gb
                                                              i'm gonna love ya caz two is better than one Dbm
```

Acordes

