

Kehlani - Escape

```
Tom: A
                                                          'Cause I don?t want you thinking that my love?s in vain
                                                                             B Dbm A
                                                          ?Cause baby I?ve been falling for you but falling back up out
  Gbm
         Never did I think I?d want you
                                                          vour wav
Always seen you ?round my way
                                                                         Gbm
                             Dbm
                                                          ?Cause I can?t make you lose yourself
         Never had the strength to tell you
                                                          looking for me
                          Gbm
I kinda, sorta think you?re great Gbm
                                                                          F
                                                          And I can?t let you make me your, your everything
                                                                      Gbm
Strange for me to wanna love someone who?s better by
                                                          I just wanna be an escape
themselves
                                                                      Dbm
                         B Dbm Gbm
                                                          I just wanna be an escape
                                                                 B Dbm A B Dbm Gbm
Hate to know that I made you crazy for myself
                                                          Baby can we escape escape, escape?
              B Dbm
'Cause I don?t want you thinking that my love?s in vain
                                                          ( Gbm E B Dbm A )
                    B Dbm A
?Cause baby I?ve been falling for you but falling back up out
                                                                         B Dbm A
                                                          Oh, no, no, no, no, no, no, aye, aye
vour wav
                                                                         Gbm
               Gbm
                      Е
                                                          ?Cause I?ve been staying low, holding back
?Cause I can?t make you lose yourself
                                                                                      B Dbm A
                                                          Fighting the feelings that you?ve been giving
looking for me
                                                                      Dbm
                                                                               В
                                                                                           Α
                   F
                                                          And I?ve been trying to put it all into words
                              Dbm
           Ghm
And I can?t let you make me your, your everything
           Gbm
                                                          But I can?t so I?m singing
I just wanna be an escape
                                                                           Dbm
           Dbm
'Cause I don?t want you thinking that my love?s in vain
                                                                              B Dbm A
Baby can we escape escape, escape?
                                                          ?Cause baby I?ve been falling for you but falling back up out
                                                          vour wav
       Admiring you from a distance
                                                                         Gbm
                                                                                               Dbm
                                                          ?Cause I can?t make you lose yourself
Scared to go and make a move
                                                          looking for me
                                                                             Е
       Didn?t wanna be distracting
                                                                      Gbm
                                                                                         Dbm
                                                          And I can?t let you make me your, your everything
You be all up in your groove
                                                                      Gbm
                                                                              Е
                                                          I just wanna be an escape
        It?s strange for me to wanna love someone who?s raw
                                                                    Dbm B
                                                          I just wanna be an escape
    B Dbm A
                                                                                B Dbm Gbm
                                                                 B Dbm A
                                                          Baby can we escape escape, escape?
                      B Dbm Gbm
I?d hate for you to search for someone else
                                                          Gbm E Dbm B
                                                          Gbm E Dbm B
              B Dbm
                                                 Α
Acordes
                 Gbn
```

