                                                                   Every little thing's gotta be just right
                                                                   While you're tryin' to save me a musica em si é bem simples... Se mantém e G e D tanto nos
                                                                   I Can't I get back my lonely life
                                                                   I Can't I get back my lonely life

                                                                   Little Mona Lisa laying by my side
                                                                   "Crimson and Clover" pullin' overtime
                                                                   I feel too close to be losin' touch
                                                                   By givin' in, what am I givin' up
                                                                   Am I losin' way too much
Little Mona Lisa laying by my side
                                          D
"Crimson and Clover" pullin' overtime
                                                                   Hev
                                                                   California waiting
I feel too close to be losin' touch
                                                                   Every little thing's gotta be just right
                                                                   While you're tryin' to save me
I Can't I get back my lonely life
By givin' in, what am I givin' up
                                                                   I'm goin' so fast that I can't slow down
Am I losin' way too much
                                                                   It's hard to get up when you're spinnin' round and round

                                                                   I'd tell you the news but nothin's changed
                                                                   I'd sing you a song but they blew it away
                                                                   All wrapped up in this stupid ass game
Hey, California waiting
                                                                   Hev
Every little thing's gotta be just right
                                                                   California waiting
                                                                   Every little thing's gotta be just right
Say While you're tryin' to save me
                                                                   Say
                                                                   While you're tryin' to save me
I Can't I get back my lonely life
                                                                   I Can't I get back my lonely life
I'm goin' so fast that I can't slow down
                                                                   Hey
It's hard to get up when you're spinnin' round and round
                                                                   California waiting
I'd tell you the news but nothin's changed
                                                                   Every little thing's gotta be just right
I'd sing you a song but they blew it away
All wrapped up in this stupid ass game
                                                                   While you're tryin' to save me
                                                                   I Can't I get back my lonely life
