

Laura Marling - New Romantic

Tom: G
Intro:

G I know I said I loved you but I'm thinking I was wrong,
Bm I'm the first to admit that I'm still pretty young,
Am and I never meant to hurt you when I wrote you ten love songs.
G but a guy that I could never get 'cause his girlfriend was pretty fit
Bm and everyone who knew her loved her so.
Am and I made you leave her for me and now I'm feeling pretty mean,
Bm but my mind has fucked me over more times than any man could ever know.

Em Maybe I should give up, give in,
D give up trying to be thin,
Em give up and turn into my mother,
D god knows I love her.

G and I'm sorry to which ever man should meet my sorry state,
G watch my steady lonesome gait and beware.
G I would never love a man 'cause love and pain go hand in hand
Am and I can't do it again.

G So we stayed up late one night to try and get our problems right,
Bm but I couldn't get into his head just what was going through my mind,

Am and I think he knew where I was going
D he put Ryan Adams on
G I think he thinks it makes me weak
G it only ever makes me strong.
Bm I've got this friend who sounds just like him,
Am now he's the man I'd leave you for, the man that I just adore like you.
G The same man, he turns to me he said I've got to tell you how i feel,
Bm if god could make the perfect girl for me it would be you
Am and my god told me not tell about how much do you love your fella?
G I don't know more everyday
C not in this new romantic way.

F I'll always be your first love, you'll always be my first love.

G And I'm sorry to which ever man should meet my sorry state
G watch my steady lonesome gait and beware,

G I will never love a man 'cause I could never hurt a man in this way.

G I will never love a man cause I could never hurt a man, not in this new romantic way.
