

Laura Padaratz - So Good

```
tom:
                                                                    But then I realize that you?re the one to blame
Intro: Eb7 Cm Gm
                                                                Fh7
                                                                    Now I ain?t got the patience
[Primeira Parte]
                                                                    I know all of your words they?ve always been the same
                                                                Eb7
    Used to feel sorry
                                                                    I know you?ll never get it
    You would always tell me that I?m playing games
                                                                    The things I represent because you?re just a man
                                                                Eb7
                                                                                  Cm
                                                                    Now I don?t believe it
    And then I lost myself in your complaints
F<sub>b</sub>7
                                                                    Finally I see it through
   But now that I?m recalling
                                                                [Pré-Refrão]
    Twisting all my words and arguing in vain
                                                                Eb7
                                                                                     Cm
                                                                                                   Gm
                                                                Every time you would stare and make scared of speaking my mind
  But finally I see it through
                                                                                     Cm
                                                                Every time you would scream and then act so sweet and say it [Pré-Refrão]
                                                                was fine
                                                                [Refrão]
Every time you would stare and make scared of speaking my mind
                                                                Eb7
                                          Gm
                                                                              Cm
                                                                                             Gm
                     Cm
Every time you would scream and then act so sweet and say it
                                                                     I won?t
                                                                                     tell you
                                                                                                    what you wanna hear
was fine
                                                                     No more crying
[Refrão]
                                                                     I?m feeling independent in a way that Fb7
F<sub>b</sub>7
              Cm
    I won?t
                     tell you
                                   what you wanna hear
                                                                You have never seen
    No more
                    crying
                                                                Now I?m who I wanna be (in time I?ll heal)
Gm
                                                                Fh7
                                                                I can?t help but feel
    I?m feeling independent in a way that
Eb7
You have never seen
                                                                So good, so good, so good
       Gm
Now I?m who I wanna be (in time I?ll heal)
                                                                Eb7 Cm Gm
                                                                              So Good, So good
F<sub>b</sub>7
I can?t help but feel
                                                                [Terceira Parte]
       Gm
So good, so good, so good
                                                                F<sub>b</sub>7
                                                                           Cm
( Eb7 Cm Gm )
                                                                   What we were wasn?t healthy
(Eb7 Cm Gm)
                                                                          Cm
                                                                   So many scars to heal
[Segunda Parte]
                                                                            Cm
                                                                   We both deserve to be happy
F<sub>b</sub>7
                  Cm
                                                                         Eb7 Cm
                                                                That?s why I chose loving myself
```

Used to feel sorry

Acordes

