

Laura Pausini - No River Is Wilder

```
Tom: C
                                                               That threw away
                                                              C Em
                                                            My whole damn world
                                                                F
           Αm
   All of the wind
                                                              Finally fly me
                                                              C Em
That I thought I wanted
                                                            And finally save me
       F
   To run away
                                                            Right in time my heart can feel you
   C Em
                                                            Next to me
Out of my soul
                                                            Just next to me
   Finally drags me
                                                               Αm
Finally saves me
                                                            No river is wilder
                                                            F C
Right in time my heart can feel you
                                                            Than my philosophy
                                                             Am
Next to me
                                                            Catch me, then I?ll be
                                                            F G
                                                            A shelter for you
   Look and you?ll see
                                                            I?ll let the dream come true
    C Em
That love is so cruel
                                                            Because the truth
   But you come to stay
                                                            Is what I mean
                                                            Come back to see
    C Fm
And take control
                                                              Am
                                                            Your love for me
   You finally embrace me
                                                               Am F G
        C Em
You finally save me
                                                            No river is wilder
                                                              Am F G
                                                            No reason is brighter
Right in time my eyes can see you
Next to me
Next to me
                                                            I won?t let you doubt again
                                                            Because the truth
   Am
No river is wilder
                                                            Is what I give
F C
                                                            Come back to see
Than my philosophy
                                                              Am
                                                            Your love for me
     Am
Hold me, then I?ll be
F G
                                                            Promise me to be
A shelter for you
                                                            The promise that I need
       F
I won?t let you doubt again
Because the truth
                                                               All of the love
Is what I give
                                                            That I thought I missed out
Come back to see
                                                               Has found its way
  Am
Your love for me
                                                                C Em
                                                            To warm the cold
Promise me to be
                                                               Finally wants me
The promise that I need
                                                            And finally saves me
   All of the wings
      C Em
                                                            Right in time my soul will love you
That I thought were bonded
                                                            Eternally
