LAUV - Breathe

Tom: E

```
         A                                      E
I've watched those eyes light up with a smile
River in the not good times
                            Dbm
Oh, you taught me all that I know

         A                            E
I've seen your soul grow just like a rose
Made it through all of those thorns
                       Dbm
Grow into the woman I know

         A                            E
And it's killing me, me to say "I'm fine," "I'm fine"
When I really mean, mean to say

            A
You're my all and more
    E             B        Dbm
All I know you taught me, yeah
            A
You're my all and more
    E             B        Dbm
But I need room to breathe, yeah

A                             E
I found New York laying in your arms
We'll melt into the bedroom floor
                          Dbm
Never knew I'd stay for so long
   A                          E
I found New York laying in your arms
We'll melt into the bedroom floor
                          Dbm
Never knew I'd stay for so long

         A                            E
And this truth cuts not through one, but both
                              B
Not through one, but both of us
                          Dbm

But it's deeper if I hold on
             A                            E
And it's killing me, me to say "I'm fine," "I'm fine"

You're my all and more
    E             B        Dbm
All I know you taught me, yeah
            A
You're my all and more
    E             B        Dbm
But I need room to breathe, yeah

          A            E          B
Oooooooooh, oooooooooh, oooooooooh
                                    Dbm
Gotta breathe for me, it's now or never
Gotta breathe for me, it's now or never
          E             B
Oooooooooh, oooooooooh
                                       Dbm
I should leave, 'cause you deserve better, better

            A
Gave my all and more
    E             B
But I need room to be me
              A
You're my all and more
    E             B        Dbm
All I know you taught me, yeah
              A
You're my all and more
    E             B        Dbm
But I need room to breathe, yeah

          A            E          B
Oooooooooh, oooooooooh, oooooooooh
     Dbm
Breathe
          A            E          B
Oooooooooh, oooooooooh, oooooooooh
     Dbm
Breathe
