

Lewis Watson - Little Light

Tom: G

Intro: Em G C

Em G C
Staring at the clouds, looking for a silver line
Em G C
I was caught in a cocoon but now you got me feeling butterflies
Em G C
Dreaming in the lows, I never thought I'd see this high
Em G C
Now I'm shooting for the moon, you're calling me a lunar light
Em C G D
And all this shade is, illuminating; and all those love lines, are taking shape
Em D C G D
And all my worried disintegrating; and I've been waiting, I've been waiting; and
D
All my

C G D Em
D
Days were young and wasted ; when I was waiting, oh for you. and all the
C G D Em D
C
Plans that I've been chasing are always fading. but ever since I found you
Em G C

A little light is breaking through

[Em G C]

Em G C
Staring at the roots, nobody there to help me grow
Em G C
I was longing for the rain, you were the flood that made me overflow
Em G C
A stranger to my skin, but now I'm braver in my bones, oh
Em G C
See I'm shooting for the moon, you're painting me in indigo
C G D Em
D
Days were young and wasted ; when I was waiting, oh for you. and all the
C G D Em
D C
Plans that I've been chasing are always fading. but ever since I found you

A little light is breaking through Em G C

C Em G C
A little light is breaking through
C Em G C
A little light is breaking through
C Em G C
A little light is breaking through

Acordes

