

Liam Gallagher - Alright Now

Tom: G

[Primeira Parte]

Well, you look too well and your first time under the law
Yeah, your head jumped fun so you thought it's time to move on
But the pretty girls from the underworld made it easier said than done

Yeah, soon enough you were hanging out, you were back where you begun

But maybe it's alright now
[Segunda Parte]

Well, it rained three days so the street began to flood
Everyone took off, they said they had enough

Since 26, since 40 licks, you been moving through the fog
Yeah, you never said what you really meant, did you think that it would stop?

But maybe it's alright now

But maybe it's alright now

Baby, it's alright now
[Refrão]

By the pinball lights, you got petrified

Your glass in hand, you're staring at the walls
You could try to change, but you just stay strange
And drink away the emptiness, paranoid, the SAS

Will end the game by kicking in your door

[Solo]
[Refrão]

By the pinball lights, you got petrified

Your glass in hand, you're staring at the walls

Yeah, you just stay strange, and you call her name

Well, sonny, she can't hear you anymore

Sonny, she can't hear you anymore
[Terceira Parte]

When the lights go down on Broadway

I could still hear all the things you used to say

From out my window

Watch the fires burn down the road

At times, I wonder if you're listening, now I know

At times, I wonder if you hear me, now I know

Acordes
