

Lighthouse Family - I Could Have Loved You

```
Tom: F
                                                                 Now I know just what a selfish little fool I've been
   INTRO: F7M Eb7
                                                                 Now I know for sure this love will never go...
Far too many things have come between
                                                                  (Hey!) There must have been a way that
                                                               I could have loved you more
Where we are now, where we could have been
 Sometimes a chance, comes once
                                                               Now I know, there must have been a day when
And then it goes, right out the window
                                                               I could have loved you more
Now the truth, shines through
                                                               Now I know, there must have been a way that
I could have loved you
                                                                I could have loved you more
REFRÃO:
                                                               Now I know, there must have been a day when
                    C
 Now I know what a terrible mistake I've made
                                                                I could have loved you more
 Now I know, this feeling's still around
                                                                 Now I know what a terrible mistake I've made
 Now I know just what a selfish little fool I've been
                                                                 Now I know, this feeling's still around
 Now I know for sure this love will never go...
                                                                 Now I know just what a selfish little fool I've been
  (Hey!) There must have been a way that
                                                                 Now I know for sure this love will never go...
I could have loved you more
                                                                  (Hey!) There must have been a way that
Now I know, there must have been a day when
I could have loved you more
                                                               I could have loved you more
                                                               Now I know, there must have been a day when
Far too many times I let you down
                                                                I could have loved you more
With the behavior of a typical clown
                                                                Now I know, there must have been a way that
Selfish through and through
                                                                I could have loved you more
I told more than a few sophisticated lies, without a grain of
                                                                Now I know, there must have been a day when
But you could see, right through
                                                                I could have loved you more
I could have loved you
                                                               Now I know, now I know, there must have been a way that
REFRÃO:
                                                                I could have loved you more
 Now I know what a terrible mistake I've made
                                                               Now I know, there must have been a day when
  Now I know, this feeling's still around
                                                               I could have loved you more
```

Acordes

