

Lizzy McAlpine - Let Light Be Light

tom:
Intro: B Eb E
B Eb E

B Eb E
My brain feels heavy like too much TV
B Eb E
It's weighing on me like a pound of concrete
B Eb E
I know he wants me and that makes me happy
A B Eb E
So why do I feel so weird?
B Eb E
It's foggy in my head, like clouds in a storm
B Eb E
The wind's pickin' up, I'm bolting my shit to the floor
B Eb E
But when I'm with him, my shit gets ignored
A B
Is that why I feel so weird?

Dbm E
I'm alone almost every night
Dbm E
And I don't know if I'm processing right
Dbm Eb
But my therapist says to just let light be light
Abm Gb Gb
So I'm letting him stay around
Dbm A
I think that he's good for me
B
This boy that I've found

(B Eb E)
(B Eb E)

B Eb E
I don't like getting attached
B Eb E
It makes me feel like I've done something bad
B Eb E
'Cause I'm not dependent, and I know that
A B

So why am I scared I'm reliving that part of my past?

Dbm E
I'm alone almost every night
Dbm E
And I don't know if I'm processing right
Dbm Eb
But my therapist says to just let light be light
Abm Gb Gb
So I'm letting him stay around
Dbm A
I think that he's good for me
B
This boy that I've found
Dbm A
Oh, I think that he's good for me
Gb
This boy that I've found

Gb E
Is this what it's supposed to feel like?
