                                                                You always love me more
  (intro) Am Em G Dm
                                                               Miles away
I just woke up from a fuzzy dream
                                                                I hear it in your voice
                                                                We are miles away
You never would believe those things that I had seen
I looked in the mirror and I saw your face
                                                                You're not afraid to tell me
You looked right through me, you were miles away
                                                                Miles away
                                                                I guess we're at our best
All my dreams, they fade away
                                                                We are miles away
I'll never be the same
If you could see me the way you see yourself
                                                                So far away
I can't pretend to be someone else
                                                                So far away
                                                                So far away
You always love me more
                                                                So far away
Miles away
                                                                So far away
I hear it in your voice
                                                                So far away
We are miles away
                                                                So far away
You're not afraid to tell me
                                                                      Dm
                                                               So far away
Miles away
                                                                                   Em
I guess we're at our best
                                                                I'm alright, don't be sorry, but it's true
                                                                                   Fm
We are miles away
                                                                When I'm gone you'll realize
                                                                That I'm the best thing that happened to you
So far away
                                                                You always love me more
So far away
So far away
                                                                Miles away
      Dm
So far away
                                                                I hear it in your voice
                                                                We are miles away
So far away
                                                                You're not afraid to tell me
      Fm
So far away
                                                               Miles away
                                                                I guess we're at our best
So far away
                                                               We are miles away
When no one's around, then I have you here
I begin to see the picture, it becomes so clear
                                                                So far away
You always have the biggest heart
                                                                So far away
When we're six thousand miles apart
                                                                So far away
                                                                      Dm
                                                                So far away
Too much of no sound
                                                               So far away
Uncomfortable silence can be so loud
                                                                So far away
Those three words are never enough
                                                                      Em
But it's now distance love
                                                                So far away
