

Marilyn Manson - Cupid Carries a Gun

```
Tom: D
                                                                or your gaurdian?
Intro:
                                                                Keep your head up,
                                                                it's time
I'm the Coat Of Fists
                                                                One hand on the trigger, dead and hearted spiders like and the other hand in mine two mangled crowns on the D
                                                                Because now, Cupid carries a gun wires of the meanings
                                                                Now, now, Cupid Cupid carries a gun
cold snakes,
                                                                Verse 2 (Lead)
folks that'll lie, look like death live in a hotel of my eyes
                                                                Verse 2 (Lead)
lies wide open like a whore paid spit from the hell's Chorus 2 beat pedophile
                                                                Interlude
Em D Cm B B B
Keep your head up,
                                                                Outro (lead)
it's time
                                                                Outro (Rhythm)
I'm your god
```

Acordes

E G

