

Matt Maltese - Mother

tom:
Bb

I don't wanna make a big scene
Gm

I just need a moment, lying on this street
Eb

If your lungs stop, you die
Ebm

If you lose love, that's life
Bb

What a blue sky

Bb

All my friends, they miss you a lot
Gm

I know your father probably hates my guts
Eb

When a lover cuts ties
Ebm Bb

And the people get caught in the cross-fire

Bb Cm Dm Cm Eb

And yesterday I told my mother

You'll learn to love again
Bb Dm

I know she was the daughter you never had
Eb

And I know sometimes you might miss her

But I know the years can heal
Bb

And if there is another
F

Maybe you'll love them in the same way you loved her
Eb

Bb

Tuesday with your wet hair and curls

Gm

Wearing pajamas in the outside world

Eb

Couldn't look in your eyes

Ebm Bb

When you got in your car and started to drive

Bb Cm Dm Cm Eb

And yesterday I told my mother

You'll learn to love again
Bb Dm

I know she was the daughter you never had
Eb

And I know sometimes you might miss her

But I know the years can heal
Bb

And if there is another

Maybe you'll love them in the same way you loved her
Eb

Eb Gm Dm Eb

Ooh, oh, oh, oh

Eb Gm Dm

Ooh, oh, oh

Eb

And tomorrow I'll say mother

You'll learn to love again
Bb

I know you want to write her
Dm

You never thought you'd grow a blood bond to another
Eb

You didn't birth, but that's the joy of human nature
Bb

F

Some people stumble into your heart for all time
