

McFly - Just My Luck

```
Tom: A
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    I still refuse to be a skeptic
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    G Bm C
Cause I know I could still correct this Em
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                D D D B
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    Maybe this will be my lucky night, night
Intro: Riff:
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          G G Em
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    C D
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    I'm starting to fall in love
Verse:
                         Bm
                                                C
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    It's getting too much
You and I have got a lot in common
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    C D G G Em
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    It's not often that I slip up
G Bm C D
We share all the same problems
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    C\ D G C G D
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    It's just my luck
Luck and love and life aren't on our side
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    Interlude:
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               C G
                                      C
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    G C G D D Just my luck, just my luck, now (x4)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  D
I'm in the wrong place at the wrong time % \left( \frac{1}{2}\right) =\frac{1}{2}\left( \frac{1
G Bm C D
Always the last one in a long line
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    Something to turn out right
                                                                                                              D D D B
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    Waiting for something
                                     Α
Waiting for something to turn out right, right
                                                                                                                                                                                                                     I'm waiting for something
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    To turn out right
                                 G G Em
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    Chorus:
C D
I'm starting to fall in love
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          G G Em
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    C D
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    I'm starting to fall in love
(Played during -love-)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    C D
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                В
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    It's getting too much
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    C D
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        G G Fm
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    Not often that I slip up
It's getting too much
C D G G Em
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    C D G
Not often that I slip up
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    It's just my luck
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    Riff:
(Played during -up-)
It's just my luck
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    It's just my luck
Riff:
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    Outro: Luck...
Verse 2:
G Bm
                                         C
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    Legend:
Rain clouds are gathering in numbers
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    s - slide
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    h - hammeron
G Bm
                                   C
Just when I put away my jumper
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    B|- bend
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    pb - prebend
Luck and love still aren't on my side
```

Acordes

