

Meredith Andrews - The River

tom:

Intro:

[Primeira Parte]

Everyone is broken and in need of a Saviour
So He came and was broken for the mocker, for the shamed
Still our eyes are blinded by the culture, by the lies
We can't see that were filthy, we're fallen and so dry

[Pré-Refrão]

(Can be strummed)

But He invites us, can you hear him say
He invites us, hear Him call your name

[Refrão]

(I'd strum this)

Welcome to the river
Come drink, come away, come find your very life
Welcome to the river of God
Where your brokenness is washed away

[Segunda Parte]

Everywhere is the sorrow and the pain of empty living
You can see it, look in their eyes, all the hopelessness of the world
But look closer, He is right there in the midst of every fear
Living water is the offer, restoration is the call

[Pré-Refrão]

(Same as before)

And He invites us, can you hear Him say
He invites us, hear Him call your name

[Refrão]

Welcome to the river
Come drink, come away, come find your very life
Welcome to the river of God
Where your brokenness is washed away
Find your healing, find your freedom, in the river of God
Find your healing and find your freedom, in the river of God
Your healing here, your freedom here, in the river of God
Your healing here, your freedom here, in the river of God

[Refrão]

Welcome to the river
Come drink, come away, come find your very life
Welcome to the river of God
Where your brokenness is washed away
Welcome to this river
Come drink, come away, come find your very life
Welcome to the river of God
Where your brokenness is washed away
Washed away, yeah

Everyone is broken and in need of a Saviour
