                                                                                                                                                                                         It doesn't matter how you are holdin' me,
You took my hand and we kissed in the moonlight
                                                                                                                                                                                         I like the way how you're lovin' me,
(You took my hand and we kissed in the moonlight)
                                                                                                                                                                                         It doesn`t matter how you are lovin` me,
Uuuuuuuuuh uuuuuh
                                                                                                                                                                                         I like the way how you`re touchin` me,
                                                                                                                                                                                         It doesn't matter how you are touchin' me,
I like the way how you're holdin' me
                                                                                                                                                                                        I like the way how you`re kissin` me, It doesn`t matter how you are kissin` me
