

Movements - Nineteen

tom:

Intro: Bb Dm F Bb

There's a fire in my heart

But I've got blood in my mouth

Tongue caged by my teeth

Trying hard just to speak

But your shout has got me beat

And I'm rusting I'm rusting

(Dm F Bb Dm C)
(Bb Dm Gm Bb Gm C)

And my mother always told me

Tread lightly don't step

On his toes And that was

Okay at a young age

But I am fully grown

Suit and tie at the table

Another disappointment

I'll stay quiet

Still unstable

I'll swallow the poison

Cause I am not who

You were at nineteen

I am not the man

You want me to be

I'm not a warrior

I am fragile I am weak

I'm not a warrior

I am not you I'm

Barely me

Someday I hope to make it clear

To you that success is not

Determined by leather bound books

And ink on paper but rather

The passion that I have

Acordes

F Bb
Found out of heartbreak and

Anger I know that happiness

Is stability but stability

Is not a desk job and

I refuse to sacrifice my

Aspirations for an income and

Security What the hell is security?

(Dm C Bb Am Gm Am)

See I'd rather die at my fullest

Poor but free to roam than let an

Office drain me slowly for the sake

Of a home Cause I watched your

Endless intermission an actor

Trapped in mediocrity Gave up

On your ambitions and your

Convictions compared to mine

What a rigid dichotomy

Cause I am not who

You were at nineteen

I am not the man

You want me to be

I'm not a warrior

I am fragile I am weak

I'm not a warrior

I am not you

Cause I am not who

You were at nineteen

I am not the man

You want me to be

I am not

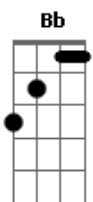

I am not

I am not my

Father's son
