

Mr. Big - Hole In The Sun

Tom: D

I dream in colors
 And the people I used to be
 Tomorrow never mattered
 A trip on the scale of lunacy
 I was a passenger
 In a life I was only passing through
 An angel with a dirty face
 With a smile on a lie that could make it seem true
 How would you ever know it - how the story goes
 Painting footsteps on the road - you never know
 I saw the world with diamonds in my eyes

And I'd take my heart and throw it in the sky
 I believed that I'd be forever young
 I could burn a hole in the sun
 I'm turning the pages
 Back when time was a friend of mine
 How everything changes
 Jump from the fun and you never think twice
 How would you ever know it - how the story goes
 Painting footsteps on the road - you never know
 I saw the world with diamonds in my eyes
 And I'd take my heart and throw it in the sky
 I believed that I'd be forever young
 I could burn a hole in the sun
