Tom: G

   (intro) D   G

D                 G        D              G
You would say anything and you would try anything
D              G          D             G
to escape your meaningless and your insignificance
Gb          G       Gb          G
You're uncontrollable and we are unloveable
Gb              Bm               G
And I don't want you to think that I care
                        Gb
I never would, I never could again

D                  G
Why can't you just love her?
D               G
And why be such a monster?
D              G
You bully from a distance
D                G
Your brain needs some assistance

Gb                    G
But I'll still take all the blame
Gb                   G
Cos you and me are both one and the same
Gbm               G
And it's driving me mad
Gbm               G
And it's driving me mad
Gb                            Bm
I'll take back all the things that I said
G
I didn't realise I was talking to the living dead
Gb                     Bm                      G
But I don't want you to think that I care
I never would
                  Gb
I never could again

D            G        D              G
You would say anything and you would try anything
D              G          D             G
To escape your meaningless and your insignificance
