Intro: Bbm Ebm Ab Gb
                                                                  Clouds weave whispers around me
                                                                  Shadows dance where I?ve been [Primeira Parte]
                                                                         Bbm
                                                                  Every step a quiet echo
Sky?s a broken mirror
                                                                         Eb
                                                                  Every breath feels paper-thin
Shards of light in my hands
                                                                        Gb

                                                                  Do you see me? a flicker small
Trying to piece it together
                                                                          Ab
                                                                  Do you catch me? before I fall
      Ebm
But it cuts where I stand
                                                                  [Refrão]
       Gb
Can you hear it? the silence scream
Can you feel it? a fractured dream
                                                                  Falling through stars tonight
                                                                  Holding on to fading light
