

Oasis - You've Got The Heart Of a Star

And the slower that you go
Intro: G, Em7, D2, C, G (x2)
                                                                                     C, Em, Am
                                                               The greener the grass grows
You're never gonna get along
            Em7
                                                               And what we all need is love in our lives
Hanging out, thin kin out loud
                                                                                       Am, Em, C
                                                               So go about you business
You're never gonna get it on Em7
                                                                                   C, Em, Am
                                                               Cos life ain't your mistress
And be someone stuck in that crowd
                                                   D2 C G
                                                                                                        D G, D,
So you call out for feelings you hope that don't never Come on, come on my brothers and sisters
                                                               you can only be what you are
But don't be ashamed of your bones and your blisters
                                                               you've got the heart of a star
So come on, come on my brothers and sisters...
                                                               But the light never hits ya
you can only be what you are
                                                               So be all you can
you've got the heart of a star
                                                               And just hold up your hands
But the light never hits ya
                                                               Someday you'll understand
And I said come on, come on my brothers and sisters
If you could see what I could see Why life never kissed you
Maybe we could all get along
And maybe I can justify
                                                                                                                   G, D, Em7
The bad things in life that I've done
                                                               And I said come on, come on my brothers and sisters
So I call out the feelin I know that don't never exist
I won't be ashamed of my bones and my blisters
                                                                                   Fm7
                                                                                                          G. D. Em7
So come on, come on my brothers and sisters
                                                               Come on, come on my brothers and sisters
Coz you can only be what you are
                                                                                                                  G, D, Em7
                                                               I said come on, come on my brothers and sisters
Coz you've got the heart of a star
But the light never hits ya
And I said come on, come on my brothers and sisters
                                                                                          Em7
                                                                                                                  G, D, Em7
                                                               I said come on, come on my brothers and sisters
