

The Offspring - Dammit, I Changed Again

```
Intro: Fii
             (Baixo)
                                                                  (INTRO)
A intro pode ser tocada assim, ou nos acordes:
       Gii# Gii Gii#
                                                                  (Baixo)
       Gii# Gii Gii#
                                                                  Now I don't see
Eb
       Gii# Gii Gii# Aii# Gii# Gii Eb
                                                                  Things the way I did before Can't stand to feel this way
(Baixo)
                                                                  Things important yesterday
Hey, come inside
                                                                  Don't matter anymore
While I stand here acting bold
Can't stand to feel this way
Clear out the cobwebs in my soul
                                                                  It doesn't make any sense
                                                                              Αb
                                                                  To feel so different day to day
REFRÃO:
                                                                  (Can't stand to feel this way)
          Fii
                                                                                 Db
This time I turn around
                                                                  When nothing's changed except for me
                                                                  (REFRÃO) (REFRÃO TOCANDO A INTRO)
And things have changed
Ab
           Eb
Now I don't feel the same
                                                                  Solo: 3x 1X COM BASE (F Db Ab Eb )
Fii
Start a fight
                                                                  (REFRÃO)
I can't defend
                                                                  (REFRÃO TOCANDO INTRO)
                                                                  (INTRO)
                                                                            Fii
Ah
One more time
                                                                  Acordes:
                                                                                C D Aii
                                                                      Fii Gii
```

Acordes

Dammit, I changed again