

Oliver Tree - Invisible Man

Did I disappear like I never was here?
                tom:
                                                                You should know, you're not alone
                       Gbm
                                                                Don't lose hope when your heart feels hopeless
I sit alone, I feel like a ghost
                                                                It's just fine, it'll be alright
Can she see me?
       Gm
Does she know my heart's beating?
                                                                Hold on tight when your heart feels hopeless
            Gbm
Do I exist, I am easy to miss
                                                                I am the invisible man
    G
Like a shadow at night, what a lonely life
                                                                If you look, you will find me
You should know, you're not alone
                                                                Come say hi when you can
Don't lose hope when your heart feels hopeless
                                                                  I am the invisible man
                      Bm
It's just fine, it'll be alright
                                                                If you look, you will find me
Hold on tight when your heart feels hopeless
                                                                Come say hi when you can
I am the invisible man
                                                                  Uhh-uhh- uhh-uhh
If you look, you will find me
Come say hi when you can
                                                                  The invisible man
            Gb
  I am the invisible man
                                                                Uhh-uhh uhh-uhh
If you look, you will find me
                                                                  Uhh-uhh
Come say hi when you can
 Gb G
Uhh-uhh uhh-uhh
                                                                The invisible man
The invisible man
                                                                   Uhh-uhh
Gb
Uhh-uhh- uhh-uhh
                                                                  Uhh-uhh
  Uhh-uhh-uhh-uhh
                                                                  The invisible man
The invisible man
                                                                  Uhh-uhh
                                                                   Uhh-uhh
I'm a lost soul, I'm invisible
She doesn't care though, 'cause she doesn't know
                                                                  Uhh-uhh
Please make it clear, can you tell me dear
                                                                   The invisible man
