

Olivia Rodrigo - Astronaut (Unreleased)

tom:
 (Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha)

They say she's pretty
 She comes from money
 She gives you everything I couldn't give
 You take her to the beach
 You talk rationally
 That's the kind of life I could never live

'Cause I'm an astronaut
 I'm tethered to the stars
 Yeah, I'm an astronaut who still thinks the world could be ours
 But I sit here and watch you and her from outer space
 I'll watch every part of me be replaced
 And slowly, but surely, I'll drift away

They say you sing to her
 She understands your humor
 I'm glad you found yourself someone you can tie down
 Oh, Let me ask you something small, are you recycling it all?

All the sweet little words and the perfect slow burns
 I wonder if you told her I did that shit first (Mmm)

But I'm an astronaut, could never keep my feet on the ground
 Yeah, I'm an astronaut, my dreams were too big to make you proud
 So I sit here and watch you and her from outer space
 I'll watch every part of me be replaced
 And slowly, but surely, I'll drift away

You couldn't handle my lunacy, my voice, my opportunity
 The distance and my confidence, no you couldn't put up with it
 You left me stranded in the stars and ran into another's arms
 Will you see me on the TV and be proud?
 Until then, just please do not forget about

Your little astronaut who's tethered to the stars
 Your little astronaut who still thinks the world could be ours
 Who's sitting and watching you and her from outer space
 I'll watch every part of me be replaced
 And slowly, but surely, I'll be okay
 I'll be okay
