

Otis Redding - Try A Little Tenderness

tom:

G

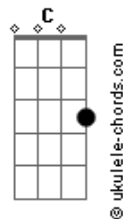

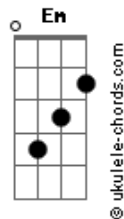

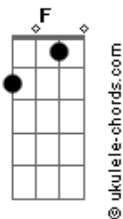

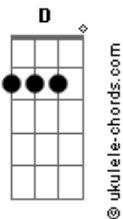

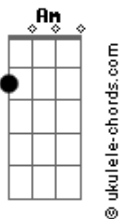

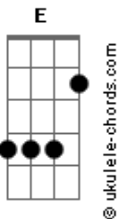

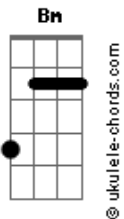

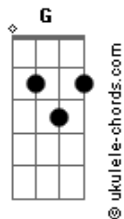

Tabbed by: Al-Zahran

Hello! I'm kinda new to this sorta thing, but I decided to give this gorgeous song a Most of the credit should go to Reda Woodcock who posted the bass tabs on here- sorry I ask before I used them, but thanks anyway. I just sort of dressed them up to make the guitar parts. OK, here they are for your enjoyment.

Bm E Am
Ooh she may be weary
D
And them young girls they do get weary
G F E
Wearing that same old shaggy dress
Am D
But when they get weary
D Bm Em Am D
Try a little tenderness

G E
You know she's waiting
Am D
Just anticipating
G F E
The thing that she'll never, never, possess, no, no
Am Am
But while she's there waiting
D D G C G
Go to her and try a little bit of tenderness

Acordes

C Bm
It's not just sentimental yeah, yeah
Em Am
She has - her greaves and care
C Bm
But the soft words [they] are spoken so gentle
Am D
But, oh, that makes it easier, easier to bear, yeah
Play these power chords nice and light and really short.
Listen to the song for timing.

(The peak- the bit Donkey sings in Shrek)

You probably repeat the fast bit and do the chorus again - that's the two last bits.

The End! You have yourself a beauty!
From Al-Zahran

(P.S. Thanks again Reda Woodcock.)
