

Pabllo Vittar - The Girls (part. Iggy Azalea)

```
Put the love in the front and the hate in the back, yeah
                            tom:
                                                                [Segunda Partel
Intro: E Gbm Dbm
                                                               If I speak my mind, I lose money
[Refrão]
                                                                If I cross your line, you take from me
It's the girls against the world these days
                                                                So I say I'm fine when it's ugly
It's the world against the girls these days
                                                                Throw out all my dirt, you get muddy
                             Gbm Dbm
Even?girls?against the girls?these days
                                                                Why the real girl gotta be the bad guy?
But all the girls, all?the girls, all the girls gonna be okay
                                                                'Cause the truth hits hard, that's a black eye
[Primeira Parte]
                                                                You must not want to hear my opinion
I could be a bitch and a beast
                                                                Twist my words when I say how I'm feelin'
I could be a witch, nothin' sweet
                                                                Hide my tears under your glass ceiling
I could be your blue jean dream
                                                               All your fears wrapped up in my linen
Or I could be a rude guillotine
                                                                I wash it, the world is sick, cold and nauseous
If you ain't comin' correct, know that shit gettin' addressed
                                                               Oh shit, they sell the dream like it's flawless
I might just come to collect in my heels and a dress
                                                                Yeah, and I bought the lies with the Lexus
Caution, I be flossin', bossin', Rick Ross-in'
                                                                Damn, I'm just as surprised as the next bitch
You look exhausted, I'm awesome
                                                                [Refrão]
                                                                                                   Gbm Dbm
I'm sorry, not sorry, you lookin' real salty
                                                                It's the girls against the world these days
My shape like a Barbie, I kill shit, no warning
                                                                It's the world against the girls these days
                                                                Even?girls?against the girls?these days
Wait, I don't need a reminder
But mirror on the wall, won't you tell me who the finest?
                                                                But all the girls, all?the girls, all the girls gonna be okay
It's Iggy, I'm the one who they envy
                                                                It's the girls against the world these days
                 Dbm
They watch me so much, I should prolly win an Emmy, Iggy
                                                                It's the world against the girls these days
www.chordzone.org
                                                                Even?girls?against the girls?these days
[Refrão]
                                                                But all the girls, all?the girls, all the girls gonna be okay
It's the girls against the world these days
                                                                [Ponte]
It's the world against the girls these days
                                                                Put the love in the front and the hate in the back, yeah
Even?girls?against the girls?these days
                                                                Put the love in the front and the hate in the back, yeah
But all the girls, all?the girls, all the girls gonna be okay
                                                                Put the love in the front and the hate in the back, yeah
It's the girls against the world these days
                                                                Put the love in the front and the hate in the back, yeah
It's the world against the girls these days
                                                                [Terceira Parte]
Even?girls?against the girls?these days
                                                                Bad girls, live your life
But all the girls, all?the girls, all the girls gonna be okay
                                                               Don't apologize (No)
[Ponte]
                                                                Bad girls, don't play nice
                                                     Dbm
                                                                Say what's on your mind (Mind)
Put the love in the front and the hate in the back, yeah
                                                                Good girls are a lie
Put the love in the front and the hate in the back, yeah
                                                                Like boys who take their time (Time)
Put the love in the front and the hate in the back, yeah
                                                               So go, girl, live your life
```

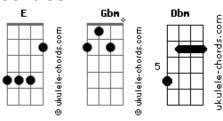

Oferecimento Lojalele.com.br

Don't apologize (No)

[Refrão]

Gbm Dbm It's the girls against the world these days

Acordes

E

It's the world against the girls these days

E

Gbm

Dbm

Even?girls?against the girls? Even?girls?against the girls?these days

But all the girls, all?the girls, all the girls gonna be okay