This town just wasn't made for two

But when the streets they call my name, what can I do?
           F                C             Bb
There's a place I'd like to visit there someday
             F             C               Bb
And if you decline my invitation, what can I say?

What can I say?
      C       Bb
What can I say?
           F             C              Bb
When the corner light is dimmed on the street

And all the faces looked confused on those you meet

Tell your friends that I'll be dead when you read this you comfort me?

            F            C          Bb
Because we run out of things to say

If you're gone and me not here
            F                C              Bb
It kind of sheads a different light on the whole year

On the whole year
F    C      Dm

you comfort me?

I'll dream of you
         Bb              F       C  Dm
